Programme Description:

This workshop will introduce the audience to a history of thinking that examines the relationship between spirituality, aesthetics and the creative process. Drawing from important work in the modern study of religion and hypnosis, we will span the time from the Enlightenment to the present and explore the relationships between artistic inspiration and spiritual development.

Dr. Smith will work from clinical case files, as well as his research on spirituality and traditional healing. Dr. Hoyer will present clinical examples and research on hypnosis and creativity. The second half of the workshop will be devoted to teaching and experiencing hypnotic techniques designed to enhance spiritual growth and the creative process.

Specific Learning Objectives:

1. Participants will gain a general knowledge of the relationship of spirituality, aesthetics and creativity and their connection to and potential enhancement with hypnosis and meditative techniques.
